THE CEDAR STREET SEWER

Elicits Some Comments From Citizens Who are Deeply Interested in the Subject.

The article in Wednesday's issue of the Dayton News, in speaking of the Cedar street sewer, referred to the cost of that sewer as compared with the one built on Cottage avenue. This is not a fair or just comparison in any way. The Cedar street sewer was laid much deeper and, due to the quicksand found there, was laid on heavy, heart pine pilings. Every foot was packed with oakum and afterward cemented, making a sewer that should last for years.

The contract was advertised and let in open session of the council to J. S. Osborn, his bid being the lowest of any made by a practical workman. The pipe was furnished by H. S. Miley, in a competitive bid, and was furnished as cheaply as it could have been bought in a foreign market by the earload.

Boards of Live Oak street will remember the condition of the sewer on that street which recently cost the city $500 to repair. The pipes were filled with sand and earth and when sections were filled with rags which had forced their way in under the pipes would soon have burst from the growing roots. Bay street sewer was in fully as bad a fix after having been a short time.

It was with the object of preventing in the future such a drain on the resources of property holders that the street committee resolved to have the sewer properly laid hereafter, using proper precaution to prevent the settling of pipes or their being filled by sand or roots. This large amount of extra work has cost many more money, but it is more than probable that in the end it will prove a saving to the taxpayers who have property abutting thereon.

A Pleasant Tea Party.

A delightful tea was given at Mrs. George Allen's residence on Tuesday afternoon in her own friends. Mrs. Ellen, assisted by her sister Mrs. Egan, and Mrs. Elinor, from California, received the guests. The rooms were tastefully decorated with Southern Sables and Tulips.

Among the guests were Mrs. Llewellyn, from China, Mrs. Hoffman, Remar, Yeagel, Llanitis, Shmoe, Ellorhouse, and Mrs. Dowdell. It was one of the social events of the season.

During the afternoon great excitement and pleasure prevailed, when there appeared upon the festive scene a gentleman unknown for. It was the husband of Mrs. Elinor, from California, and he came soon to surprise his wife. He pronounced the tea a great success.

A Fruit Buyer's Opinion.

In an interview with G. E. Robertson, New York City, representing Adam Miller, wholesale and retail dealer in fruit and vegetables, Mr. Robertson stated that he had visited several sections of Florida since the recent cold and reports less injury to orange trees in this section than other sections he has visited and says some of the fruit here seems to be perfectly sound, especially in the hammocks. Groves farther south on the west coast suffered more owing to the sap that had started up and some show the effect of cold by the bark splitting, while here the trees were in a dormant state and stood the cold much better.

Mr. Robertson will remain here for several days and look into the situation a little closer, and if circumstances do not too badly damaged will secure some for his firm. He thinks there will soon be a demand for Florida fruit. This firm handled about 5000 boxes from Florida this season.

A Poem for Today

THE FUTURE LIFE

By William Cullen Bryant

How shall I know thee in the future which keeps
The absence of the dead, the absence of the dead.
When all of thee that thou couldst wither sleep
And perish among the dusts of the dead?

For I shall feel the sting of sorrow, pain,
If thou I meet but as a phantom, vain,
Nor hear the voice I love, nor read again
In the warm eyes the tender thought.

Will not thy own weak hand demand me there?
That heart whose lonely throbs to me were given;
My name on earth was ever in thy heart,
And wilt thou never meet me in heaven?

In memory, hallowed by heaven's life-breathing word,
In the remembrance of that vision, mine,
And larger moments of the undimmed soul,
Will thou forget the love that joined us here?

The love that lived through all the stormy past,
And nobly with my higher nature true,
And deeper grew, and tender to the last,
Shall it expire with life, and be no more?

A longer life than mine, and longer than,
Will thou not love the same love of the soul,
In heaven, let him be to the love of right,
And leave all and remember me for ill.

For me, the soul's care is which I direct
To think and continue as I feel the world,
And with me let the soul be of the soul,
And left be the world as thou art of the world.

Yet think that thou wilt be of the soul,
Will thou not love the same love of the soul,
The same fair thought of love, and gentle eye,
In heaven's sweet climate, yet the same?

Shall thou not touch me in that vision, true,
The vision that I loved as I loved thee,
The vision which is love, and I love thee,
Thy life in heaven is the love of life?

His Path Twisted.
One day the clouds began to rain, and God would send him a thousand prayers.
"A full thousand," I could not take," said he in a thoughtful voice. "A full thousand," I could not
take," said he in a thoughtful
voice. "A full thousand," I could not
voice.

Traveller's Hunches.
One who has been employed these thirty years in slaughter houses as bookkeeper, salesman, etc., tells me: "To say that butchers are hard-hearted is far from the truth; that is, in most cases. Let me explain how the shed side of a human hand affects them. I once saw a butcher cut his hand very severely, and not one of his twenty or more associates could be induced to go near to assist him. I had to bandage his leg as well as I could and send him to a hospital. Another butcher who had helped slaughter from 2500 to 4500 hogs a day for years saw a woman dash herself before a freight train while loaded her cow. He promptly fainted. I have seen more than a hundred cases of shocked humans, but never yet saw a butcher ask to see a knife." New York Press.

Makes a Tide in 20.

W. Gould Bingham, with his record last Wednesday, beat his record and that of the world Wednesday morning on a 200-yard race, 2 minutes 2 seconds. The race was begun near the grandstand, running due south on the beach. Bingham was alone with only four men on his heels to the longest in these waters, and thousands witnessed the exciting race. Mr. Bingham is confident that he can reduce the record, and if weather conditions are favorable, he will make the attempt today.

The Four Pickers.

At the last performance of this company last night, "Dad and Dad" were presented with Miss Lillian Pickert in the leading role. Due to the inclement weather the house was not large, but the audience was an appreciative one. The specialties were very good, particularly the dancing. The evening play closed with one act far comedy "Two Married Men," which kept the audience in a roar.

Tonight will be presented "A Fatal Wedding." At Saturday's matinee "Lord Lovelace," and Saturday night "Jesse James, a Bandit Hero," will be on the boards.

Waiting in an Auto.

While carrying a prisoner to the depot yesterday, Sheriff Turner had an experience in an auto, which he hopes never to go through again.

The auto had reached a point but a few feet south of the Dayton News office, and was being watched by employees of this office, when it was seen to swerve to the right in order to give room for an approaching team. The road was very slippery on account of the rain, and instead of simply exceeding the auto slipped and skidded, turning completely around and, when stopped, was facing in the same direction the party desired to go.

MUSICAL AT THE DESPLAND

Last Night Proved a Rare Treat for the Large Number of Guests Invited for the Occasion.

Invitations were issued Tuesday to the guests of The Despland and a number of visitors in the city to attend a musical in that hotel last night.

The well known musical ability of those who were to participate in making this a musical event to be remembered, resulted in a large percentage of the invitations being accepted, those absent being kept away by force of circumstances.

The different numbers were each and every one rendered in a manner highly satisfactory to the audience, as was evidenced by the generous applause. Following is the program in full:

- My Dream. Mr. Blount
- Love Me as I Live. Mrs. White
- Quintette. The Gallant Troubadour, Mesdames Atwood and Moore, Messrs. Rostby and Blount
- Three Wishes. Mrs. Moore
- Beauty's Eyes. Messrs. Blount and Sengstack
- In Autumn. Mrs. White
- A Cello Song. (Mr. Bright Eyes, Mr. Sengstack)
- Yeoman's Wedding Song. Mr. Blount
- Sing, Sing, Standby. Mrs. Moore and Mr. Sengstack
- I Love Thee, America. Mrs. Moore and Mr. Blount

At the close of the musical, punch and cake were served to those present in the dining room of the hotel.

Mrs. H. Allen, of New York, arrived yesterday and after spending the day in the city left for Ponce de Leon, where she will be a guest of J. E. Ellison.

S. A. Wiley, Miles City, Mont.; J. H. Hubbard and wife, Cambridge; S. A. K. Francis and wife, R. E. Canaday and wife, Glen Falls, N. Y.; P. F. Baker, Ashland, Wis.; Mrs. A. Rice, Chicago, are guests of The Palmetto.

A Poem for Today

THE FUTURE LIFE

By William Cullen Bryant

How shall I know thee in the sphere which keeps
The disembodied spirits of the dead,
When all of thee that time could wither sleeps
And perishes among the dust we tread?

For I shall feel the sting of ceaseless pain
If there I meet thy gentle presence not;
Nor hear the voice I love, nor read again
In thy serene eyes the tender thought.

Will not thy own meek heart demand me there?
That heart whose fondest throbs to me were given;
My name on earth was ever in thy prayer,
And wilt thou never utter it in heaven?

In meadows fanned by heaven's life-breathing wind,
In the residence of that glorious sphere,
And larger movements of the unfettered mind,
Wilt thou forget the love that joined us here?

The love that lived through all the stormy past,
And meekly with my harsher nature bore,
And deeper grew, and tenderer to the last,
Shall it expire with life, and be no more?

A happier lot than mine, and larger light,
Await thee there; for thou hast bowed thy will
In cheerful homage to the race of right,
And lovest all, and tenderest good for ill.

For me, the sordid cares in which I dwell
Shrink and consume my heart, as heat the scroll;
And wrath has left its scars that fire of hell
Has left its frightful scar upon my soul.

Yet though thou wear'st the glory of the sky,
Wilt thou not keep the same beloved name,
The same fair thoughtful brow, and gentle eye,
Lovelier in heaven's sweet climate, yet the same?

Shalt thou not teach me, in that calmer home,
The wisdom that I learned so ill in this—
The wisdom which is love—till I become Thy fit companion in that land of bliss?

His Faith Unshaken.

One day the chodja prayed aloud that God would send him a thousand plasterers. "A full thousand! I could not take less," said he in concluding his prayer. A rich man who had heard the chodja praying thought he would try his consistency and next day placed a bag containing 999 plasters in his way. The chodja found the bag and counted the money, but as he was turning to carry it home the tempter stepped from behind a wall and cried: "Yesterday in your prayer you said you could not take less than a thousand plasters, and I wished to show you your inconsistency. Leave that money. It is mine." "Oh, no," said the chodja. "This money God sent me in answer to my prayer, and I shall take it home, trusting that he who sent me 999 plasters will some time surely send me the one outstanding plaster. There is no inconsistency, but plenty of faith in me!" And he walked away well satisfied, carrying the bag. — Good Words.

A Roman Butcher's Shop.

The Museum of Antiquities at Dresden has an interesting marble relief from Rome which represents an ancient butcher shop of oblong shape divided by a pillar into two unequal parts. In the greater stands the butcher, with a high chopping block resting on three substantial legs before him, while behind him hang the steelyard and a cleaver, he himself being occupied by dividing a rib of meat with another cleaver. On the wall above him, just as with us, is a row of hooks near to each other, on which hang pieces of meat already dressed—a rib and a leg of mutton, a pork joint and under a titbit of the Roman; also lungs and liver, and last of all the favorite boar's head. On the left, in the smaller division of the shop, the wife of the butcher sits in an easy chair, with an account book on her knees, engaged in assisting the business of her husband by acting as bookkeeper.

One who has been employed these thirty years in slaughter houses as bookkeeper, salesman, etc., tells me: "To say that butchers are hard hearted is far from the truth—that is, in most cases. Fatal Accident.

Robert W. Cox, a brother of Judge Chas. R. Cox, and Mrs. E. R. Lee, of New York, now visiting her brother in this city, was run over by a train and instantly killed last Monday.

Mrs. Cox was a telegraph operator employed at Vienna, Fairfax Co., Va., by the Washington & Ohio Railroad, a branch of the Southern. On Monday, while endeavoring to cross the tracks, she was run over and killed. News did not reach this city until yesterday, due to there being no telegraphic communication.

The deceased left a wife and two young daughters, the two latter being expert stenographers holding good government positions.

The bill has been played here before, but never has any company appearing in Key West, played it with the vim, dash and go that was displayed by the Picketts.

The feature of the evening was the dancing of the four Picketts. They gave, without doubt, the most marvelous exhibition of clog dancing ever seen here. Key West Inter-Ocean.

Right Doing.

One's rightful work is often halted by fear of what others will say about it. This may be even more a barrier to the work than the fear of not doing the work at all. It takes courage to do what we believe we ought to do when we think we shall be criticised or misunderstood or scorned. But the real calamity lies in not doing what we ought. Of this it is well to have so strong a fear that we shall have courage to face whatever others may say of our right doing.—Maxwell's Talisman.

Holly Hill Items.

Early in the week Mrs. Davenport entertained a few friends at afternoon tea. Among those present were guests from the Seaside Inn and the Oaks. The refreshments were most recherche. Mrs. Davenport is a charming hostess so the time passed much too quickly and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Palmer and daughter Ruth, Mrs. Davenport and Mrs. Heath took the Cherokee to Coronado Beach and spent pleasant day there.

Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Wetzel were gladdened by the arrival of a baby girl.

We are glad to announce an improvement in Mrs. Lindsay's health. She has been ill with pneumonia.

George Harris is still somewhat under the weather.

A Novel Banquet.

The enterprising town of New Smyrna is about to adopt a novel method of showing to its winter visitors what it can provide for the sustenance of life. The city will give a banquet to its visitors on the 22nd of this month, and as the announcement says, "there will be a menu of extended proportions and not an item on it but can be gathered from the woods and waters of this section, 'without money and without price.' The bread will be made from coconut root, vegetables from cabbage palmetto, and others found growing wild. Fish, oysters and game will furnish the meats. The people propose to show what kind of a meal a man can get up here without purchasing a single article. We believe we have a country in which a man can live cheaper than anywhere else in the world, and propose to demonstrate that fact." Well done, New Smyrna.

A Big Fish

M. J. Gibbons, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is an enthusiastic disciple of Sir Isaac Walton, and spends much of his time at the favorite recreation of his chosen sport. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Gibbons was fishing from the pier of the Grand Atlantic Hotel, of which hotel he is a guest, when suddenly he had a heavy strike.

Eye witnesses say that he had a bite, how large the fish was may be guessed by the results. Mr. Gibbons is not a small man by any means; he looks as though he might tip the scales at 180. When the fish struck he attempted to play it, reeling in the line or letting it out as necessity seemed to demand, stepping first to one side and then the other. In fact using every art of the fisherman. In his excitement he forgot about the slippery boards, made sly recent rains, and stepping near the end of the last board slipped and plunged overboard.

Spectators hurried to the rescue, a boat was quickly manned and the fisherman pulled aboard. Mr. Gibbons' only regret was that he lost the fish.

Several of the Palmetto's guests, ladies and gentlemen, enjoyed a game of ball in the rear of the hotel this morning.

Gagnon and Pollock.

Bert C. Gagnon and Miss Edith Pollock, supported by Harold Morand, an excellent company, opened a week's engagement at the Tampa Bay Casino last night, presenting "A Man of Mystery." The play and the company made decided hits with the audience, which was a good one and an appreciative one, and the merit of the play's presentation was accentuated by the very clever specialties of Mr. Gagnon and Miss Pollock and the illustrated songs of Mr. Gagnon.

The play is a double-life, deceitful villain, safe robbing, smart detective, tragic ending sort of affair, with all kinds of excitement, suppressed and otherwise. Mr. Gagnon does the Jim Alon part very cleverly, while Miss Pollock does the heroine effectively. George Hannas Dr. Leslie, George Castellane as Bill Burke, Miss Myrtle Hubbert as Kate Burke, and Miss Violet Marsden as Millie Merton fill their parts acceptably, while James Howard as Noah Lott, the "coon," was the laugh-maker of the attraction.

"Rag Time Opera," a specialty by Mr. Gagnon and Miss Pollock, and the illustrated song, "The Man in the Overalls," were exceptionally good. Every union labor man in Tampa should hear the latter.—Tampa Tribune.

This company will be at the Opera House every night next week. Prices will be 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents.

DAYTONA is situated upon the west bank of the Halifax River at its widest expanse and midway between its source at Indian Bay and its outlet at Mosquito Lake. It is in latitude 29° 30' and one mile from the Atlantic Ocean, and is acknowledged to be without a rival for beauty among the cities of the South. Its site is upon a plain known as high land, but that was crowned by nature with a most royal growth of majestic forest trees, and among these to be seen the town of today, with its beautiful cottages and well-graded streets. The growth is the all-around, the wide avenues that intersect the city are lovely and water-courses and highways, many of them draped with graceful festoons of the gray Spanish moss, that overarch the street and walks, and among these are interspersed tall tropical palms, glossy leaved magnolias, fragrant hays, and coral-berried holly, and many other varieties, while in many places the wild grape, the trumpet vine and the amplexoid climb and cling among the branches forming shady bowers, and adding grace and beauty.

The town lies parallel with the Halifax River, and extends for nearly two miles along the shore. This river is the delight of the angler and the yachtsman and forms one of the town's greatest attractions.

The main avenues that run parallel with or intersect the river are all 100 feet wide, except Beach street, which is about sixty-five feet, but has a half mile of open, beautiful water abutting upon its eastern side, where the salt waves ebb and flow and along and across which comes the cooling, invigorating and health-giving breezes from off the wide Atlantic, which temper and render the Halifax climate one of the most perfect in the world. Daytona has many miles of well-graded, macadam and shell roads and streets, rendering it the and added to these, but a mile away, are thirty miles of smooth, hard beach, that affords an unrivalled course for long distance cycling and driving or automobile racing. No town of equal size, North or South, numbers so many wheelmen, and cycling is a favorite pastime with the tourists summer and winter.

The Beautiful Cottages
that have been erected during the past years and are being built are rendering Daytona as famous for its fine homes as for its beautiful river, trees and avenues, and they are adding yearly to its attractions.

Not the least of these attractions to those securing homes in the South, and ranking second only to healthfulness and perfection of climate, is the fact that its population is chiefly composed of cultivated and intelligent people, accustomed to the refinements of home and social life. Added to these features are good churches, good public and private schools, stores, hotels, laundry, meat markets, novelty works, an opera house, electric lights for street and house illumination, a good telephone system, ice factory, Lily Water Works, and hot and cold baths, etc., and everything else can be procured that is necessary to make life comfortable. An important feature in the healthfulness of this town is the

Water Supply
which is derived from numerous flowing wells, of which there are probably 500 in the corporate limits. This flow is secured by boring wells to the depth of from 80 to 120 feet, passing through several strata of rock, and this depth assures purity from all surface contamination. The water is slightly impregnated with magnesia and iron, and holds sulphur in the shape of gas, which soon passes away.

The Population of Daytona proper is about 1,800. Added to this is a suburban-population on main shore and peninsula of about 1,000 at Kingston, Blake, Old Seabreeze or Goodall, Seabreeze and Silver Beach, which are properly a part of the town and population.

Daytona Beach

lies one mile east of the town. It is approached by three good bridges over the river and well-graded avenue, and is the principal summer resort south of St. Augustine. It has more tourists during the summer than all other places south of that city combined, and is also becoming a favorite winter resort. The beach is wide, firm and smooth by many considered the finest in the world, and the surf bathing is safe and excellent summer and winter. People who have tried Northern and Western summer resorts declare that there are none so perfect in comfort as Daytona beach.

Automobile Race Meet.

The Florida East Coast Automobile Association conducts an annual race meet on the beach, which has now a universal reputation as the greatest automobile race course in the world. The Daytona Grand Beach is hard as pavement, and an ideal stretch of thirty or more miles without a break hinders in the natural racing ground for America.

At low tide the beach is lured for 200 feet and neither carriage wheel, bicycle or pedestrian can make a hardly visible imprint on the smooth and well-packed sand. It is no uncommon sight to see sail-rigged bicycles speeding with the velocity of the wind before a stiff breeze along the smooth beach, thus affording the most exhilarating sport known to man. Besides these, miles of hard-shelled palm-fringed boulevards bring the lovers of the wheel and vehicles into direct touch with the mainland over the broad bridges which span the splendid Halifax River.

The beach from the sandy bluffs to the lowest point at oblique, measures about 500 feet, and the average depth of the surf measures about two feet. A continuous gentle swell rolls in from the ocean from one to two feet in depth under normal conditions, making the beach an attractive and absolutely safe place for surf-bathing. Here the infant as well as the gray-haired veteran of many summers, can safely enjoy the luxury of a sea bath throughout the larger part of the year, while the strong and expert swimmer, can venture out further to test his strength and skill in battling with the inexhaustible powers of the mighty ocean.

The Peninsula
lying between river and ocean is one-half mile wide, and is being rapidly improved, and there are many fine cottages and several good hotels, an opera house, two ocean piers, beach pavilion and a large casino.

A Remarkable Feature
at Daytona has been the yearly improvement in the style and value of the buildings that are being erected for homes. Men of capital of the North and West have become awakened to its advantages for winter residences, and valuable lots are being purchased and costly houses, beautiful in design and finish, are being erected, and beautiful homes, the abodes of wealth and culture are multiplying.

Seabreeze (City Beautiful) and Goodall are settlements on the Ocean side of the peninsula across the Halifax River from Daytona. At the foot of Ocean Boulevard, Seabreeze, a pier reaches 600 feet across the beach into the swelling surf of the ocean. This pier is a favorite resort of those who delight in the sport of fishing. The surf here abounds in trout, pompano, yellowtail, cavale, whiting, drum, sheephead and many other varieties of edible fish. During the fall season the famous sea bass affords royal sport, and it has been no uncommon occurrence to land a thousand pounds of this gamey fish in an afternoon. Individuals of them ranging from fifteen to thirty-five pounds in weight. Not only does the ocean offer this splendid sport but the Halifax River, only half a mile back of the ocean, is equally famous for its fine fishing, and the varieties that abound in the ocean are present in the river.

Hunting and fishing good. Experienced guides and dogs may be had at reasonable prices.
